Hey, it's possible!

Hey there guys! This idea randomly came to me a few days ago, and I just wanted to put it out there. So here you go. Hope you like it!

"Hey Hiccup?" Toothless said in dragonese, as he and his boy sat in the cove. "Yeah bud? What is it?" Hiccup asked as he lay, stomach down on the dragon's back, using Toothless's head as a rest for his sketchbook. "Have you ever wondered if there were others out there?" the dragon questioned, staring out into the sky. "Others?" Hiccup asked, not looking up from his drawing. "Like, I was thinking last night, what if, somewhere out there was a world that was completely full of beings made ofâ€¦ what's that stuff your foot is made of again?"

"Flesh and bone?'

"Umâ€¦ no. The other foot."

"Metal."

"Yeah that! What if there were an entire species of giants made of metal, and they came to our world, and disguised themselves as ordinary objects so that we would never know they were there? Wouldn't that be cool?"

Hiccup finally turned away from his sketch. "Toothless that's crazy." The dragon thought for a moment, then replied. "â€¦ Is not!"

"Is too"

"Is not!"

"Is too!"

"Is NOT!"

"Okay, okay fine! Sheesh don't get so worked up." Hiccup said, laughing. "But come on Toothless think about it. If they were completely metal, how could they disguise themselves, huh? I mean, it's not like we have very many things that are made of metal that are big enough for them to pass off as."

"Well, maybe in the future then." Toothless replied. Hiccup snorted. "Yeah, sure. And next you'll tell me that they'll form an alliance with humans to defend both of their species." Toothless flicked Hiccup in the face with his ear flap. "Hey, it's possible."

"Whatever," Hiccup said, scratching Toothless behind the ears. "Hey, wanna see this new sketch?"

"What is it?"

"Designs for this suit that can make people fly!"

"â€¦ and you say that _I'm_ crazy."

-(Many years later in a far away land)-

"_Dragons_ Bee? Seriously?"

"Heyâ€¦ it's... possible!" Bumblebee replied through clips of various voices he found on the radio.

"What got you thinking about this exactly?" Bumblebee zoned out for a moment, searching for the right song, giving an excited chirp when he found it. Sam listened to the song for a few second.

"The theme song from How to Train Your Dra- _really_ Bee? You actually watch that kid stuff?" Sam asked incredulously, looking up at his guardian. Bumblebee narrowed his optics at his charge, playfully warming up his canon arm. "Okay, okay fine! Sheesh don't get so worked up!"

The boy laughed, swatting the mech in the arm that wasn't currently glowing. Bumblebee made a sound equivalent to a chuckle, and powered down his canon. Sam leaned against the mech's side and gazed up at the stars that had just begun to appear.

"It would be cool though." Bumblebee whirred his systems in agreement, and looked up at the stars alongside his charge.

So, like it? Hate it? I was also thinking about doing a spin-off story of this where they actually meet. Would that be a good idea? Please review!
